

Arizona Rivers – Donation Form

Arizona Rivers is seeking donations to further support their riparian education and outreach mission throughout Arizona. Public donations are critical for us to meet leverage requirements of various grants, to continue to reach a wide audience and to sustain the program. Your donation is tax deductible according to federal law and will be used exclusively to support this program.

Your contribution, at whatever level, will make a difference. Our two key activities these contributions support include teacher workshops and the high school Riparian Research Experience. A synopsis of these two programs follows along with some historical program costs. More information about these programs can be found on our web site: <http://www.azrivers.org>

Teacher Workshops are three-day intensive hands-on workshop where ~20 teachers are introduced to basic riparian monitoring protocols and strategies for using these in the classroom. During the first year, we had a grant that allowed us to pay all teacher costs (mileage and lodging, if needed) as well as a stipend of $100/day. Approximate cost: $500/teacher. Stipend levels may be adjusted depending upon funding.

The Riparian Research Experience is a two-week opportunity for high school students to learn about riparian ecosystems and experience first-hand the many facets of Arizona’s remaining riparian ecosystems. The RRE is limited to 10 student participants. During the first year, we had a grant that allowed us to offer the program at no cost to the students. Approximate cost: $2000/student.
